GHX Announces New Location in Geismar, La.

HOUSTON--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Today, GHX Industrial, LLC (www.ghxinc.com), a Houston-based fabricator and supplier of industrial fluid sealing and transfer products, announced the opening of a new facility in Geismar, La. This is GHX's 12th distribution location.

"This location helps round out our coverage of major Gulf Coast industrial markets, stretching from Corpus Christi to Pensacola," said GHX President Dan Ahuero.

"We have had the Baton Rouge market on our radar screen for a long time. By opening a physical presence there, we will be able to improve our level of service to existing multi-location customers and offer our wide array of products and services to new customers in Southeast Louisiana," he added.

Headquartered in Houston, Texas, GHX is a leading fabricator and supplier of industrial fluid transfer and sealing products in the Gulf Coast area, where it has served its customers for more than 70 years. With fabrication capabilities at each of its locations, GHX provides quick response for customers' critical repair needs.

The Geismar facility will offer customers a wide array of products, including gaskets, compression packing, expansion joints, industrial and hydraulic hose assemblies, as well as an extensive range of industrial stud bolts and nuts. In addition, GHX was selected by Eaton Corporation as a location for an Eaton "Aeroquip Express" showroom and sales counter, a one-stop shop for hydraulic, pneumatic, and fluid transfer hose and fitting needs. This successful retail concept allows customers to have hydraulic hose assemblies fabricated on site, while watching the process on a closed-circuit flat panel display.

"We have had the Baton Rouge market on our radar screen for a long time. By opening a physical presence there, we will be able to improve our level of service to existing multi-location customers and offer our wide array of products and services to new customers in Southeast Louisiana"
